Swearing Allegiance, Book 1 of the Allegiance Series / Jana Petken

Read by Alistair Davis

An Irish Easter uprising lays waste to Dublin and fractures a British Empire struggling to supply men and arms to defeat Germany. In Dublin's ruins, the affluent and celebrated Carmody family are not only forced to confront the rebellion's devastating effects on their personal lives but also the terrible secrets and lies uncovered in the midst of grief. Forced to abandon their home in the Irish capital for London, each family member must strive to survive poverty, the horrors of war, and personal bouts with excessive pride and passion—but loyalty to family proves to be the most difficult cross to bear.

The Ancestor / Lee Matthew Goldberg

Read by Norman Gilligan

A man wakes up in present-day Alaskan wilderness with no idea who he is, nothing on him save an empty journal with the date 1898 and a mirror. He sees another man hunting nearby, astounded that they look exactly alike except for his own beard. After following this other man home, he witnesses a wife and child that brings forth a rush of memories of his own wife and child, except he's certain they do not exist in modern times—but from his life in the late 1800s. The Ancestor is a thrilling page turner in present day Alaska and a historical adventure about the perilous Gold Rush expeditions where prospectors left behind their lives for the promise of hope and a better future. The question remains whether it was all worth the sacrifice.

The Nectar of Angels: Part 1 of the Arrowsmith Saga / Dane St. John

Read by R.D. Watson

In the chaos of 14th-century England and France, wine is the nectar of angels—a valuable commodity buttressing kingdoms and vaulting vast fortunes. A mysterious old archer named David Arrowsmith recounts his tale about a seemingly cursed infant that barely escapes the grip of the Black Death in rural Wales when his family dies. Except for a single clue on a note attached to an arrow, the identity of the boy's parents is unknown. David becomes caught up in a series of events that exposes the corruption of the wine trade, and reveals him to be an unmatchable and ambidextrous archer as renewed conflict between England and France looms, and the Hundred Years' War threatens Europe.

The Venom of Serpents: Part 2 of the Arrowsmith Saga / Dane St. John

Read by R.D. Watson

The wine that flows between England and France during the 14th century truly turns to venom as Jean Créton continues to record the man's scintillating account. The story resumes in the year 1370, when David has married the ravishing Eleanor, taken over the Pelican Tavern Inn in London, and recommenced his apprenticeship in the wine trade. With civil wars brewing in Brittany and Spain, and France and England openly fighting, the truce has ended and the Hundred Years' War is again in full swing, threatening to bring everyone into its fold.

At the Gates of Walhalla* / Justin Forge

Read by the Author

Kurt Sorensen's life as a U.S. Border Patrol Officer takes a devastating turn when his wife and twins are killed in an apparently random attack in Juarez. Kurt leaves the painful memories behind and returns to his peaceful, stunningly beautiful hometown, North Walhalla, Manitoba. Instead of finding peace and tranquility, Kurt is swept up in a vortex of evil that seems to have followed him northward. Trying to protect Walhalla from the infiltration of death and drugs, Kurt battles an infamous drug lord, only to be shocked at the revelation of the drug gang's silent business partner. Kurt draws on his ancestral Viking spirit to recruit a secret militia to right the wrongs in society, but the militia, the drug lord and an ominous third party are on collision courses, which intersect at the gates of Viking Heaven—Walhalla.

Backbiters* / Debra Leea Glasheen

Read by Jennifer Jill Araya

I'm Giluli of the Red Mighty Nationland. Fifty-four years ago, the Corporate World War of 2050 annihilated a bunch of animal and insect species on the planet, not to mention billions of people, but the good news is that we were born—the Red Mighties. They don't like us. They call us mutants. I'm attending their high school in the afternoons to try to understand them better, which believe me is no cup of tea, except for one particular Pre-ev guy who I could drink right up. Meanwhile, they're trying to steal our pure water source and stop us from saving the Red Mighty babies born to their people. I want to help—but I'm not sure I can do what they're asking.

The Blessing Stone* / Barbara Wood
Read by Marion Castle

Millions of years ago, a meteorite fell to earth and shattered, revealing a beautiful blue stone. One hundred thousand years ago, a girl named Tall One found the crystal on the African plain, and it formed her destiny—as well as the destiny of generations to come. From ancient Israel to Imperial Rome, medieval England to fifteenth-century Germany, the eighteenth-century Caribbean, and the nineteenth-century American West, the destiny of the stone and the history of the world unfold. Each story is full of the betrayals and obsessions of the human heart, and the quests of the human spirit. In The Blessing Stone, Barbara Wood has both told the intimate details of her characters' lives and created a sense of the epic sweep of human history.

The Man from Section Five - Book 1 of the Brinley Knight of MI5 Series* / Jana Petken
Read by John Sackville

Brinley Knight accepts an offer from MI5 to become a spy in a shadowy world of espionage. As Britain stands at the edge of war, Brin learns that 'defending the realm' means duty before family. Hitler's fifth columnists in Britain emerge from the darkness, as Germany's military might eyes new territories east of the Rhine. German spies: aristocrats, politicians, wealthy businessmen, anti-Semites, and fascist groups operate in opulent dining rooms and in the back alleys of London's East-End. Menacing predators, they hunt for information that could aid the Führer's ambitions and stoke fires of division between the Jews, Communists, and British fascists. Britain is already at war, as the government tries to hold the political parties and British public together before the streets of England burn with hatred and revenge.

The Dying Peace, Book 2 of the Brinley Knight of MI5 Series / Jana Petken
Read by John Sackville

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain pins all Britain's hopes for peace on a face-to-face meeting with Adolf Hitler in Munich, but behind their civilized discussions, Germany amasses armaments and moves its plans forward for its invasion of Czechoslovakia. Gerhardt von Kessler continues to operate his deadly rogue operations in Britain, and he is always one step ahead of MI5. Brinley Knight uncovers startling evidence against Sir Oswald Mosley, including a foreign dictator secretly funding the British Union of Fascists, and a conspiracy to overthrow the British government and King George VI in a violent coup. As the political division in Britain grows, unexpected help for Brinley Knight and MI5 comes from a high-ranking officer in Hitler's Nazi regime.

The Obsidian Curse, Cades Cove Series / Aiden James

Read by Tim McKean

More than a year has passed since shaman John Running Deer and his granddaughter, Evelyn, battled Brigindo and Teutates' other three siblings in Cherokee, North Carolina. At the time, John and Evelyn prayed this would be it for dealing with violent ancient entities that supersede the normal realm of ghosts and other mischievous spirits. They naively equated the Hobbs family's return to peaceful lives as the end of their own misadventures with the supernatural. They couldn't have been more wrong. When the sudden appearance of an obsidian spearhead shows up at a brutal crime scene where six young adults have been horrifically slaughtered, John and Evelyn are soon pulled back into the realm they had hoped to avoid revisiting.

With guests dressed in elaborate costumes, the band is rocking, the cocktails are flowing, and tempers are flaring when the hired Bavarian Barmaid tries to hook a rich, hapless husband. Except one of her targets happens to be Emory's brother-in-law, which bodes ill for his pregnant wife. When Emory tracks down the distraught barmaid, instead of finding the young woman in tears, she finds her dead. Can she explain why the Bavarian Barmaid was murdered in Emory's bathtub with Emory's Poison Apple Cake Pops stuffed into her mouth? Emory promises to clear her brother-in-law's name, but her search leads to a web of blackmail and betrayal amongst the posh setting of the local country club crowd.

The Forever Man, Book 1: Pulse / Craig Zerf

Read by Michael Neeb

The first pulse occurred in the old calendar year of 2022. A sequence of gigantic solar flares created a series of massive electromagnetic pulses that stopped the heart of our modern world and returned us to the Dark Ages. Tens of thousands died within the first few hours as airplanes fell from the skies, hospitals ceased to work and every form of modern transportation ground to a halt. Marine Master Gunnery Sergeant Nathaniel Hogan finds that he has been changed by the huge amounts of Gamma radiation in the solar flares. From the Ashes of Amiens / Jana Petken
Read by Tracy Thibodeaux

January 1944—a senior member of the French Resistance betrays his comrades to the Abwehr and Gestapo. Within hours, the Germans arrest hundreds of suspected resistance fighters and incarcerate them in the infamous Amiens prison. When a Resistance spy inside the prison informs his leaders of German plans to conduct mass executions within weeks, they are helpless to respond. In a last-ditch effort to free their Résistants awaiting death or deportation to labour camps, they turn to the British for help. Only a Royal Air Force strike can knock down the prison's walls and free the inmates before it's too late. Will the British agree to the audacious request? Will a bomb attack kill more prisoners than it will save? As the RAF and MI6 debate these questions, the Germans are already executing prisoners.

He Who Laughs Last* / Gary Kassay

Read by Andy White

EVIL. I have often thought of the world and all the evil I have seen. Since the beginning of time, philosophers, writers, poets, witch doctors, shamans and ordinary men have tried to identify it, root it out, use it for their own purposes, describe it and make excuses for it. There was a difference between people who were evil and those who were truly EVIL. No part of their soul had any good in it and having no conscience or feelings for anyone else. Just pure, unadulterated evil. I can tell you there are no excuses, nor rhyme or reason for the people who were all evil. At first, they looked the same as you or I, until they revealed themselves, and reveal themselves was something they eventually had to do.

Broken Ground, Book 4 of the Jay Porter Series / Joe Clifford
Read by Timothy McKean

Part-time investigator Jay Porter meets a recovering addict who needs his help. Amy Lupus' younger sister, Emily, has gone missing from the Coos County Center, the newly opened rehab run by Jay's old nemeses, Adam and Michael Lombardi. When Jay learns of a "missing" hard drive, he is flung back to five years ago when his own junkie brother, Chris, found a hard drive belonging to Lombardi Construction. For years Jay assumed that the much-sought-after hard drive contained incriminating photos of Adam and Michael's father, which contributed to Chris' death. But now he believes that hard drive may have harbored a secret far more sinister. The deeper Jay digs, the more poisoned the ground gets, and the two cases become one, yielding a toxic truth with far-reaching ramifications.

Rag and Bone, Book 5 of the Jay Porter Series / Joe Clifford
Read by Timothy McKean

Having spent ten months on the run after he was framed for the murder of an estate-clearing associate, handyman Jay Porter returns to his hometown of Ashton, New Hampshire. During his time as a fugitive, he searched for evidence that would put his longtime nemeses Adam and Michael Lombardi behind bars. With his reputation tarnished and employment opportunities nonexistent, Jay takes a charity assignment from old friend/flame Alison Rodgers and learns of a fire at Alison's former rehab farm. Jay is convinced that the Lombardis started a fire as a scare tactic to pressure Alison to sell. As Jay begins to look into the origins of the fire, he soon discovers that evil isn't so easy to define, and that sometimes we need to take the law into our own hands if we want justice.

Death's White Horses, Book 3 of the Jeff Trask Thriller Series / Marc Rainer
Read by James Conlan

Federal prosecutor Jeff Trask is back on the case, after a series of drug overdoses places investigators face to face with Los Zetas—the most dangerous of the Mexican drug cartels. What begins as an investigation of local heroin trafficking soon turns into something far more serious. The cartel will do anything to protect its cash flow—including a series of attacks against Trask's team that cement Los Zetas' status as one of the most ruthless criminal organizations of the century. Inspired by actual events from Mexico's cartel wars, Death's White Horses is Marc Rainer's third book featuring federal prosecutor Jeff Trask. While showcasing the challenges faced by law enforcement on both sides of the border, it also highlights the deadly consequences seen on either end of the US-Mexico drug trade.

Immortal Reign, Book 2 of the Judas Chronicles Series/ Aiden James
Read by Jason Keller

William Barrow, the man originally known as Judas Iscariot is on a mission to recover thirty silver shekels once paid to him for his ultimate betrayal. But when his Russian nemesis, Viktor Kaslow, also becomes immortal, the stakes are immediately raised. Kaslow has followed William and his son, Alistair, to Hong Kong in search of a 'blood coin' passed down through Genghis Khan. The coin presently belongs to an esteemed Chinese collection. But along with the coin are other cursed items from the famed Mongol Emperor. William soon learns he can't have the one without the others. While Kaslow closes in, seeking vengeance, William and Alistair race against the CIA and an unscrupulous American businessman intent on reaching the cursed 'treasure trove' before them.

Immortal Destiny, Book 3 of the Judas Chronicles Series/ Aiden James
Read by Jason Keller

William Barrow (AKA Judas Iscariot) is faced with recovering the silver coin he dreads above all others. Known as the “Singing Coin” among the ancients, this shekel was initially lost long ago—on the very night of Jesus Christ’s arrest in Jerusalem. A new murder spree has begun for the ruthless Kaslow, who races against William and the immortal Roderick Cooley to obtain the coin from a reclusive Es-sene sect residing in the Bolivian Andes. But unlike William and Kaslow’s previous confrontations, this one involves many more outside interests since this coin contains unusual properties. If it falls into the wrong hands, the entire world will be brought to its trembling knees.

Immortal Dragon, Book 4 of the Judas Chronicles Series/ Aiden James
Read by Jason Keller

William Barrow (aka Judas Iscariot) is tantalizingly close to finally having the life he has dreamed of with Beatrice and Alistair. But an ancient menace has successfully tracked William and Roderick to Virginia after hunting the pair for nearly five hundred years. This new threat once gained notoriety as the cruelest tyrant in recorded history: Vlad Tepes. Better known as Vlad the Impaler, this ruthless immortal carries an unquenchable thirst for torture, slavery, and bloodletting. The vampire’s lifeline to immortality is tied to a blood coin—one that William is reluctant to pursue. However, the welfare of his family, and the threat of bondage upon the entire world, there is no other choice. Find the Dragon Coin—or pay the ultimate price.

Immortal Tyranny, Book 5 of the Judas Chronicles Series/ Aiden James
Read by Jason Keller

Krontos Lazarevic stands in the way of William Barrow (aka Judas Iscariot), finishing his quest to reclaim thirty silver pieces paid to him to betray Jesus Christ. Forced to flee an underground fortress in Abingdon, Virginia, William and his companions end up in the quirky spiritual town of Sedona, Arizona. For a short while, it appears they might finally have a moment to enjoy life without looking over their shoulders. But the purchase of a horse ranch brings only temporary happiness once Krontos demands William’s surrender of the Dragon Coin. Amid this latest crisis, another blood coin resurfaces. Believed lost with the fall of the Third Reich, this coin was once legendary for miraculous events among prisoners at Stutthof and later Auschwitz concentration camps.

Immortal Pyramid, Book 6 of the Judas Chronicles Series/ Aiden James
Read by Jason Keller

William and his companions return to the United States, where they must find a new secure home. Alistair’s suggestion of New Orleans appears to be the right choice—until an old nemesis comes to town; Ratibor, the bloodthirsty killer who once slaughtered prostitutes for food under the name ‘Jack the Ripper’. Known to surface every eighty to one hundred-twenty years, the immortal serial killer usually stays in Europe. However, this time, Ratibor seeks to avenge an old score with William, who, as Emmanuel Ortiz, interfered with Ratibor’s feasting on human flesh and blood in London during the horrific Whitechapel crimes of 1888. Ratibor takes what is more precious to William than the total of these coins and draws him back once more to Eastern Europe, this time to the Balkans.

Immortal Victory, Book 7 of the Judas Chronicles Series/ Aiden James
Read by Jason Keller

William Barrow is faced with one of the most important decisions of his two-thousand-year stay on Earth. Should he leave well enough alone and seek a quiet retirement, having retrieved the first twenty-eight of the original thirty coins of silver paid to him for betraying Jesus Christ? Or should he press on to recover the last two shekels and find out if it is enough to redeem his soul before Almighty God? The temptation to delay the inevitable is quite alluring—especially since it comes with the promise of a new life with Beatrice—one that includes Roderick, Amy, Cedric, and Jeremy. The potential of unfettered happiness is quite real, given the perpetual youth they all enjoy. But after Viktor Kaslow returns to William’s world, the permanence of such a blissful existence becomes precarious at best.

Revelation / Carter Wilson

Read by Timothy McKean

When Harden Campbell wakes cold and beaten in a dirt-floor cell, he finds only three other things in the room with him: the mutilated body of his good friend, an ancient typewriter, and a stack of blank paper, the top sheet of which has a single, typed sentence: Tell me a story. He knows the message is from Coyote, his brilliant, megalomaniacal roommate whose lust for power and reverence has recently revealed him for the true sociopath he is. Now, as the founder of a new religion with disturbing roots—Revelation—Coyote's most evil side has emerged. From the moment Harden sees that stack of paper, he knows his one chance of escape is through his own words. This will be the most difficult story Harden has ever written because Coyote will be reading each and every one of them.

Runaway Train, Book 1 of the Runaway Train Series / Lee Matthew Goldberg

Read by Kelly Brennan

They told me I was an out-of-control train about to crash. Everything changed when the police officer knocked on the door to tell me – a 16-year-old – that my older sister Kristen had died of a brain aneurysm. Cue the start of my parents neglecting me and my whole life spiraling out of control. I decided now was the perfect time to skip town. It's the early 90's, Kurt Cobain runs the grunge music scene and I just experienced some serious trauma. What's a girl supposed to do? I didn't want to end up like Kristen, so I grabbed my bucket list, turned up my mixtape of the greatest 90's hits and fled L.A. The goal was to end up at Kurt Cobain's house in Seattle, but I never could have guessed what would happen along the way.

Redeemed, Book 3 of the Serendipitous Curse Series / Aiden James & Lisa Collicutt
Read by Norman Gilligan

Armed with his crystal shard of light, the sliver of black mirror that the witch Madeline Jacobs pulled Desiree through, and the key to a fabled unholy shrine in this world of darkness, Solomon departs modern-day Savannah on his final journey. Together, the star-crossed lovers escape Madeline's minions through frozen hells to another world, in some ways even more terrible: Savannah, Georgia, during the American Civil War. The locals don't take kindly to the persimmon-haired beauty, Desiree. Her comely appearance marks her as a witch, and her foolish confidence as a history major runs afoul of the stark reality of the harsh conditions her African-American ancestors faced in slavery. Meanwhile, the demon Amon is determined to take over Solomon's entire being to possess Desiree.

Sin / Shaun Allan
Read by R.D. Watson

Dead, dead, dead. Say it enough times and it becomes just another word. What would you do? Could you kill a killer? Does the death of one appease the deaths of a hundred? What about that hundred against a thousand? What if you had no choice? Meet Sin. No, not that sort of sin, but Sin, crazy as a loon (you ask Sister Moon), and proud of it. Sin locks himself away in an asylum and, every so often, gets violent. That's only so they'll give him those nice drugs, though. The ones that help him forget. It's a pity they don't work. Sin, you see, has a serious problem. Well, it's not so much his problem, as ours—yours, mine and everyone else's. People die around Sin. He doesn't like it and there's nothing he can do about it. But someone else knows, and Sin has to stop them—and himself. Flip and catch.

Skunk Train / Joe Clifford
Read by Ben Hauck

Starting in the Humboldt wilds and ending on the Skid Row of Los Angeles, Skunk Train follows two teenagers, Kyle and Lizzie, who stumble upon stolen drug money and set off to find Kyle's father, a Hollywood director he's never met, with drug dealers, dirty cops, and the Mexican mob on their heels. Drawing on novels featuring teenage protagonists such as Rule of the Bone and Catcher in the Rye, Skunk Train is a modern-day love story set against the backdrop of the NorCal marijuana trade. Like No Country for Old Men, the book is steeped in the colloquial. It is a fast-paced thriller, which tests the bonds of family and shows the lengths desperate people will go to keep a secret and protect the ones they love.

Road Beneath the Wood, Book 4 of the Temple of the Blind Series / Brian Harmon
Read by Norman Gilligan

“The things in this tunnel are imaginary as long as you don’t prove them otherwise...” This was the warning of the Sentinel Queen. But can Wayne really ignore these “imaginary” things to save his own life? Separated from the companions he had grown to trust, Wayne stands alone as he prepares to take his first steps on a journey through a terrifying, personal hell. The dark and ancient tunnel that lies before him will test his courage to its very limits and force him to face the greatest fears he has ever known—and the past he seeks to flee. And even if he is strong enough to endure this torturous passage, does he have what it takes to survive what lies beyond? The things that lurk in the Wood are not imaginary. It is a place of immeasurable darkness and despair, a place where death is eternal, but never final.

They Fought Like Men / Aiden James & Fiona Fraser
Read by Lisa Larsen & Norman Gilligan

The bitter conflict between the Union and Confederacy, spanning four terrible years from 1861 to 1865, brought the United States of America to the brink of annihilation. Families throughout the nation were torn apart by the Civil War, where soldiers died and their loved ones were left behind in a desperate struggle to survive. A war based on perceived tyranny and rebellion gave birth to many contradictions, where deceit ran rampant on both sides. Within this environment, it is known that at least four hundred women enlisted as soldiers under the pretense of being men, from both the North and South. Brave men who gave their lives for either side were not the war’s only heroes, and this story is dedicated to these remarkable women.

Woman of a Thousand Secrets / Barbara Wood

Read by Suzie Althens

She came to them from the sea, and to the sea they returned her. A story of sacrifice and survival in the New World. Tonina lives an idyllic life on a small island in the Caribbean hundreds of years before Europeans discovered it. But she has always been an outsider among her people. Unlike them, Tonina is tall and lean and light skinned, and her origins remain a mystery. Her adoptive parents had found her floating in a basket in the sea—a sacrifice? A shipwreck? No one knows. It is a tale of survival and sacrifice, of luck, magic, intrigue, and danger, romance and betrayal. But most of all, it's the story of one woman's quest to discover where—and to whom—she really belongs. This sweeping story of the undiscovered world before the time of Columbus is Barbara Wood at her very best.

Animal Farm* / George Orwell
Read by John Sackville

Farmer Jones's animals rise up in rebellion and take over the farm. Tired of being exploited, the animals vow to create a new and more just society. However, when the pigs begin their crusade to consolidate their power the other animals make the daunting realization that "some animals are more equal than others." The novel is a thinly veiled satire containing a message about world politics and especially Communism and the former Soviet Union under Josef Stalin in particular. However, throughout the book Orwell renders powerful insights about the truth behind various forms of political power, including capitalism, and imperialism in accessible language. Not available in the United States.

David Copperfield / Charles Dickens

Read by Roger (RD) Watson

Charles Dickens' classic novel David Copperfield is loosely based on the life of the author. It tells the story of David Copperfield's life from childhood to adulthood with all of the hardships, changes, and good fortune that David encounters on his life journey. It focuses on the relationships he develops with a huge cast of characters who he meets as he travels from rags to riches and back again. The book was serialized before it was first published in book form in 1850. Dickens is beloved for his complex rags-to-riches stories; realistic, sympathetic views of class disparities and poverty; and unforgettable characters like David.

It Can't Happen Here* / Sinclair Lewis

Read by Brian P. Craig

First published in 1935, when Americans were still largely oblivious to the rise of Hitler in Europe, this prescient novel tells a cautionary tale about the fragility of democracy and offers an alarming, eerily timeless look at how fascism could take hold in America. Doremus Jessup, a newspaper editor, is dismayed to find that many of the people he knows support presidential candidate Berzelius Windrip. The suspiciously fascist Windrip is offering to save the nation from sex, crime, welfare cheats, and a liberal press. But after Windrip wins the election, dissent soon becomes dangerous for Jessup. Windrip forcibly gains control of Congress and the Supreme Court and, with the aid of his personal paramilitary storm troopers, turns the United States into a totalitarian state.

The Mysterious Affair at Styles* / Agatha Christie
Read by Judi Pennington

In this first novel by Agatha Christie, she introduces the inimitable Hercule Poirot, who would go on to appear in 33 Christie novels and 54 short stories. The Mysterious Affair at Styles deals with the case of an old woman poisoned with strychnine for her money. Nothing is obvious, however, in the way Christie handles a plot. The story spirals round and round, leading the reader in one direction, then another, convincing the reader that first one character, then another is the guilty party.

Peter Pan* / James Matthew Barrie

Ready by Bobbin Beam

Peter Pan was first performed as a play in 1904, and has since become one of the most widely performed and adapted children's stories in the world. It is considered by many to be the only children's play that is also a great work of literature. Peter Pan's success is due in part to a fresh means of storytelling that appeals to both adults and children. While children enjoy the imaginative story and flights of fancy, adults can relate to Peter Pan's desire to forego mature responsibilities and live in the moment.

A Room with a View* / E.M. Forster

Read by Tamzin Denny

Lucy Honeychurch, a young English woman, has her horizons broadened by a stimulating visit to Florence and is forced to question the merits of her homeland and the man she has pledged to marry. At the Pensione Bertolini, Lucy meets the charming and free-spirited George Emerson. Although intrigued by George, once she's back in England Lucy ponders settling down with the wealthy, staid Cecil Vyse. When George reappears in her life, Lucy must decide between him and Cecil. Forster's exquisite comedy of manners is also a hymn to the vitality and creative passion of early 20th century Florence, and its favourable comparison with a tedious, repressed England.

Steppenwolf* / Hermann Hesse
Read by John Sackville

Steppenwolf is an introspective novel that delves into the psyche of its protagonist, Harry Haller. Set in post-World War I Germany, the story unfolds as Haller grapples with the complexities of modern urban life and his own inner turmoil. The term "Steppenwolf" refers to Haller's perception of himself as a lone wolf, an outsider caught between the worlds of bourgeois society and the untamed wilderness. As Haller navigates the streets of a surreal city, he encounters a mysterious and enigmatic figure named Hermine, who becomes his guide through a transformative journey of self-discovery. The novel explores themes of duality, existentialism, and the struggle between the civilized and the wild. Hesse weaves a rich tapestry of philosophical reflections, artistic exploration, and psychological insights.

The Authoritarians* / Bob Altemeyer
Read by the Author

Ever since John W. Dean published his Conservatives Without Conscience in 2006, much interest has been vested in the research of Dr. Bob Altemeyer that was so prominently featured in the book. In CWC, Dean set out to learn why modern conservatives seemed to think and behave in ways diametrically opposite the righteous and moral values they so publicly espoused. What he discovered was an existing body of scientific research tracing back to the cinders of the Holocaust. This research focused on the Authoritarian Personality, which social scientists believe was the enabling element within German society that was so deftly exploited by Adolph Hitler and the Third Reich.

Begin With Yes* / Paul S. Boynton
Read by Ed Brian Hutchison

The Law of Attraction meets the Law of Action. The Law of Attraction tells us that whatever we focus our attention on, consciously or not, we attract into our lives. Think happy thoughts, enjoy happy experiences. And vice-versa. Begin with Yes introduces the Law of Action, a principle that reverses the order—and is equally powerful. What we do affects how we think, and the kinds of experiences we have. When we take small, manageable steps, we feel more positive and our lives flow more smoothly. Begin with Yes is all about setting things in motion and opening new doors. In this short, engaging conversation, counselor, mentor, and motivational speaker Paul Boynton maps out a surprisingly easy, logical, and liberating alternate route to a better life.

Discourses on the First Decade of Titus Livius* / Niccolo Machiavelli
Read by Monroe Clark McBride

The Discourses on Livy, published posthumously in 1531, is a work of political history and philosophy composed in the early 16th century by the famed Florentine public servant and political theorist Niccolò Machiavelli and is widely considered one of his masterpieces. The title identifies the work's subject as the first ten books of Livy's Ab urbe condita, which relate the expansion of Rome through the end of the Third Samnite War in 293 BCE. Machiavelli also discusses what can be learned from many other eras including then-contemporary politics. Machiavelli saw history in general as a way to learn useful lessons from the past.

Junkie Love (Second Edition)* / Joe Clifford
Read by Timothy McKean

From the cow fields of Connecticut to the streets of San Francisco, Joe Clifford's Junkie Love traverses the lost highways of America, down the rocky roads of mental illness to the dead ends of addiction. Based on Clifford's own harrowing experience with drugs as a rock 'n' roll wannabe in the 1990s, the book draws on the best of Kerouac & the Beats, injecting a heavy dose of pulp fiction as it threads a rollicking narrative through a doomed love triangle, lit up by the many strange characters he meets along the way. Part road story, part resurrection tale, Junkie Love finds a way to laugh in one's darkest hour, while never abandoning its heart in search of a home. This second edition includes a Foreword by Jerry Stahl (Permanent Midnight) and an updated Author's Note by the author.

If you're going to live outside the law, you'd better be honest. This seeming paradox was the operating principle of Sid Probst's life. Guileless and endlessly optimistic, he was known as Honest Sid around his stomping ground of New York's Broadway. Sid wasn't a tough guy, or even a bad guy. He just never had the patience for the "straight" life, grinding out a living at some monotonous desk job. He was the quintessential American dreamer, always sure that the good life was just one big score away, a man who never stopped believing in his own good luck, even when the evidence said otherwise. He had all the tools, he was charming, good-looking, quick-witted and decent, but he had an obsession he couldn't escape.

Howard Hawks: The Gray Fox of Hollywood / Todd McCarthy
Read by Ryan Horn

The first major biography of one of Old Hollywood's greatest directors. Sometime partner of the eccentric Howard Hughes, drinking buddy of William Faulkner and Ernest Hemingway, an inveterate gambler and a notorious liar, Howard Hawks was the most modern of the great masters and one of the first directors to declare his independence from the major studios. He played Svengali to Lauren Bacall, Montgomery Clift, and others, but Hawks's greatest creation may have been himself. As The Atlantic Monthly noted, "Todd McCarthy. . . has gone further than anyone else in sorting out the truths and lies of the life, the skills and the insight and the self-deceptions of the work."

Letters from Bud / Edited by Molly Brandenburg
Read by Eric Brandenburg

A remarkable, first-hand account of the harrowing air war in Europe as told by WW2 flight navigator and bombardier John "Bud" Brandenburg, in his letters home during the conflict, from 1944-45. With guts, wit and grace, Brandenburg records his experiences with the daring "Koltun crew," which flew 30 missions over Europe. Through numerous strokes of fate, the crew survived a run of missions with the "bloody" 492nd Bomb Group, a unit that endured an 80 percent casualty rate as the men faced down the seemingly unstoppable German Luftwaffe. Brandenburg's letters create a stirring picture of one young man's experiences during the war, as he served with the US Army Air Corps in Europe, North Africa and the Middle East.

Read by Monroe Clark McBride

Max Weber's best-known and most controversial work, The Protestant Ethic and the Spirit of Capitalism, first published in 1904, remains to this day powerful and fascinating. Weber's highly accessible style is just one of many reasons for his continuing popularity. The book contends that the Protestant ethic made possible and encouraged the development of capitalism in the West. Widely considered as the most informed work ever written on the social effects of advanced capitalism, The Protestant Ethic and the Spirit of Capitalism holds its own as one of the most significant books of the 20th century. The book is one of those rare works of scholarship which no informed citizen can afford to ignore.

The Rough Riders* / Theodore Roosevelt

Read by Monroe Clark McBride

The Rough Riders (1899) is the story of the First U.S. Volunteer Cavalry, the regiment Theodore Roosevelt led to enduring fame in Cuba during the Spanish-American War. Roosevelt recounts how the regiment was raised from an unusual mixture of hardened southwestern frontiersmen and privileged northeastern college graduates, and how it trained in Texas before sailing southward through the tropic seas toward the unknown. Writing at a time when war could still be seen as a romantic adventure and rich with action, violence, camaraderie, and courage, Roosevelt describes the confusion of fighting in the jungle; the heat, hunger, rain, mud, and malaria that tested his men, and their ultimate triumph on the San Juan Heights.
